

Free virtual Winter Workshops with Microsoft

Our free virtual camps are back! This winter, the Microsoft Store has a fun collection of creative workshops and field trips to help kids practice their digital skills and explore new concepts.

Topics include:

Coding and STEM

Learn basic coding concepts through game-based learning using Hour of Code, Minecraft, and Tynker.

Winter Destinations

In this virtual workshop, attendees will travel to the world's most iconic winter wonderlands. With the power of Bing, attendees will virtually visit, learn about, and visualize key locations known for their beauty, character, and charm during the winter months.

Travel – Journey Around the World

Explore the beauty, charm, and character of our world through the power of Bing.

Game-On - Intro to Game Design

Game design workshops give students a glimpse into game creation, learning valuable digital skills.

Get Creative

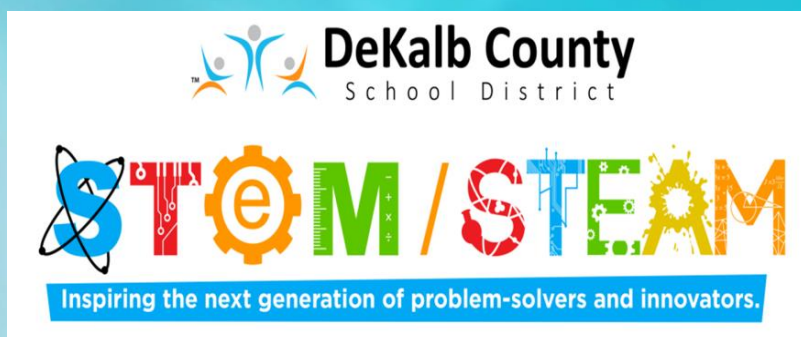

Interested in Photography or Digital Art? Our creative workshops teach students how to use Microsoft tools to bring their imagination to life.

Explore Museums

Go on virtual tours through a variety of natural history and space exploration exhibits at the Smithsonian.

Sessions are open to any age group. Younger scholars will need a parent to assist them.
